

AMUSEMENTS

BUFFALO BILL ON THE TRAIL

This City Will Soon Resemble a Western Frontier Camp.

Once again Pendleton will come into its own; the great Chief of the pale faces is on the trail, and on Saturday, August 2, we can pay homage to the only Buffalo Bill in his, this season's new role in the public arena, at the head of his big wild west exhibitions.

Besides the big battle scenes that will be fought over again between the redmen, pioneers and U. S. cavalry, as they were when Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill were on the early frontier trail, and the Indian sacrificial ceremonies, war dances and games, the ranch and range sports of those rugged sons of the Golden West, the cowboys, there have been many novelties added, and little of recognized merit in the world of distinctive diversion will be found missing in the 1913 edition of this great American amusement institution.

A few of the exceptional features winning glowing comment from the press in the cities visited for their unusually interesting originality and sensational character are, the intricate field maneuvers, patriotic flag drills and wall scaling competitions presented by a full troop of boy scouts; Prof. Gruber's wonderful cultivation of diversified animal intelligence into perfect harmony and human accord, introducing his famous elephant, horse, pony and dog actors in the same display; Miss Rose Wentworth and her racing and saddle riding bucking buffalo, the only full blooded specimens of these animals ever trained to anything approaching obedience; and the new game of thrills, chills and spills, auto-polo, and it will thrill the most blasé, it will send cold chills through the warmest blood to see these reckless drivers literally bounding about the arena in pursuit of the elusive polo ball at the topmost speed of their high powered cars, and as for spills, well, that seems to be a regular part of the game, for collisions are necessarily frequent and turnovers are often the result, and up to date it's been the mecca of the lover of dare-devil stunts and will probably remain so for a long time to come.

The Orpheum.

Extra good program for Tuesday's change.

"The Silver Cigarette Case," Vita. Thinking to retrieve his fortune, Leslie Lorraine becomes engaged to Rita Patten. Lola di Paoli, a beautiful opera singer to whom Lorraine has promised marriage, hears of the engagement and tries to kill Rita at a masquerade ball. Lola is later prostrated by a nervous attack and sends for Dr. Hawley who is in love with Rita. He recognizes her by a silver cigarette case she had at the masquerade, and she confesses. On hearing of the double dealing of Lorraine, Rita breaks the engagement and later marries Dr. Hawley. The leading roles are taken by Leo Delaney and Norma Talmadge.

"A Stolen Identity," Kalem. A young spendthrift disowned by his father helps a young couple who married against their parents' wishes, and by his sacrifices reinstates himself in his father's favor.

"Religion and Gun Practice," Selig. A missionaries daughter in the west, falls in love with Kill Kullen, who has wandered from the straight and narrow path. She thoroughly reforms him, but her father objects to the marriage, but she persists and Kill receives spiritual advice while he instructs her in riding and shooting. Father, in time, relents and all ends well.

"Beau Crummel and his Bride," Edison. A young couple who have eloped make a violent effort to escape papa, who merely wants to add his blessing. A good comedy.

Pastime Theater.

The home of good pictures, offers four full reels of excellent motion pictures for Tuesday's change:

"Two Little Kittens," Edison. Featuring Mabel Trunnelle and Harry Beaumont. Two little kittens provide a means of reconciliation between a young widowed seamstress and her wealthy mother-in-law, but not until the former had undergone many humiliations even to the extent of being accused of theft in the hotel where she was forced to seek employment. Mabel Trunnelle has the role of Little Morris, the young seamstress and Harry Beaumont plays the lover.

"His Tired Uncle," Vitaphone. The many admirers of the jovial John Bunny will enjoy a hearty laugh at his latest predicament. He had refused consent to his nephew's marriage with a pretty widow. Taking advantage of an unfortunate mistake, his nephew places him in a false position where Bunny himself, a confirmed bachelor, has to propose to a lady. He is only too pleased to give place to his nephew who offers to rescue his uncle and take his place at the altar.

"His Redemption," Lubin. An unusual story, handled in an unusual way.

"The Fugitive," Pathéplay. A delightful love story.

Cosy.

Program for Wednesday, one day only. Added attraction, Gen. King Stanley, "soldier of fortune" in an interesting lecture on the Mexican revolution in which he was an active participant.

"The War of the Beetles," Imp. A genuine novelty, the like of which has never been seen before in pictures. It is a grand little romance played by black beetles armed with swords and halberds and dressed in palace and garden, in an armed camp and on the wall of a besieged castle, also there is one in the dungeon of the tower and one in a romantic spot in the woods. It is very laughable and will afford amusement to all kinds of people.

"The Range Dead Line," Nestor. The bitter warfare between the cattle and sheep men is the basis of this spirited drama. The cattle men establish a "dead line," beyond which no sheep were allowed. The sheep men's disregard for this arbitrary law resulted in trouble aplenty.

"A Woman's Folly," Rex. Featuring Margarita Fischer and Bob Leonard.

"The Strength of the Weak," Powers. Coming Thursday and Friday, "The Union Stock Show," in three reels. Bucking bronchos and steers, chariot races, Roman races, branding contests and all kinds of "Round-up" doings.

WHY DO GREAT ENGLISH DOCTORS RECOMMEND WHITBREAD?

of women. For mothers and those in a run-down condition it is invaluable. Doctors, clergymen and professional men drink it for building up their system. The most temperate people drink Whitbread's English Ale or Stout because it is not only delicious but a blood giver and tonic. For that run-down condition and anemia its effect is immediate. IMPERIAL MINE TO BE REOPENED

BAKER, Ore., July 16.—Under the management of Otto Simons, present manager of the California mine, and F. W. Schofield, manager of the Sumpter smelter, the Imperial mine at Cable Cove is again to be opened up. Preparations are now being made under the direction of Mr. Simons for the beginning of the work and already a force of men are at work getting the old property in shape for future activity. Just what the owners contemplate doing at this time is not given out, further than that every effort will be made to put the mine back on the payroll. A suit to quiet title to the mine was recently successfully concluded.

The Imperial is one of the best known properties in the Cable Cove district, and mining men hold that under proper management its future will be good. It has a finely equipped mill and other necessities for operation. In times past it has produced much ore, but of late it has been standing idle since mismanagement put it into the hole financially. Alexander H. Sibley of Detroit is the principal owner and president of the company and a number of local mining men are stockholders and more or less interested in the property.

BAKER MINERALS TO BE CHECKED

BAKER, Ore., July 16.—The first steps to be taken in eastern Oregon by the Oregon Bureau of Mines and Geology will be in Baker county and the preliminary work of the bureau started yesterday with the arrival in Baker of Prof. H. M. Parks of the Oregon agricultural college, Dr. U. S. Grant, formerly associated with the U. S. Geological Survey, and G. H. Cady, also formerly connected with the government and Illinois geological surveys. These three expert geologists and mineralogists compose a party of three who are actively engaged in the work of the bureau in the recent movement by the mining interests of Oregon at large to check up and gain definite information of the mineral resources of the state, which work has never been thoroughly done. While some work has been done by the bureau in the western part of the state, this is the first action in eastern Oregon.

The work of the bureau is entirely separate from that of the Oregon Agricultural College, although the connection of Prof. Parks with both has led to some confusion. The latter stated yesterday that it was not quite certain yet in just what locality they will begin their work, as he has not yet had time to take in the situation thoroughly. He and his associates are being assisted by local mining men, with whom they will cooperate as far as possible. The party will outfit here and will be ready to take to the field in a few days.

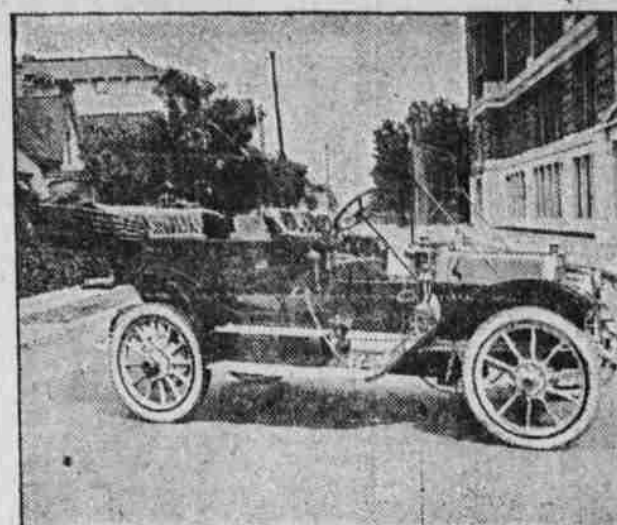

TARIFF FIGHT IS COMING THURSDAY

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Formal opening of the tariff fight on the floor of the senate was postponed from Wednesday until Thursday. This was done to enable the finance committee to complete its report on the Underwood-Simons bill, the presentation of which will mark the beginning of forensic hostilities on the floor.

In the meantime, the senate will listen to a speech by Senator Thomas of Colorado on the relation of the tariff to the panic of the nineties.
